

Method and system for providing stabilization techniques for high repetition rate gas discharge lasers with active loads provided in the discharge circuitry design which may include a resistance provided in the discharge circuitry.

5